ENCOUNTERING A WORLD OF MUSIC

Poway kids learn about other cultures through ‘international language’

BY DEBORAH SULLIVAN BRENnan

POWAY

On a typical day at Highland Ranch Elementary School in Poway, you might hear kids speaking in Russian, Urdu or Korean.

You also might hear them singing in Farsi as they perform some of the classical Persian songs they learned in a world music program the school introduced this year.

The program is offered by the Center for World Music, a San Diego-based arts organization that brings master musicians from a variety of ethnic traditions into local schools.
